Response

The council holds the information requested and the answers to your questions are below

I would like copies of your policies in relation to the prosecution of tree preservation orders.

- 1) Does the Council have a policy on when it undertakes to prosecute?

See attached

- 2) Does the policy differentiate between felling a tree completely and lopping without consent?

Section 210 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended) itself differentiates – essentially creating two types of offence

3) The CPS code for crown prosecutors requires consideration of alternatives to prosecution - how does the Council adopt this in practice?

See attached – and also Para.141 of National Planning Practice Guidance, read more at <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/tree-preservation-orders-and-trees-in-conservation-areas>

4) Does the Council have a policy for dealing with people who make mistakes but are willing to pay a financial penalty to avoid prosecution?

A decision as to whether justice would best be served by prosecution or some out of court disposal in any particular case would be made on the basis of the CPS two-stage tests and the above national guidance. Any financial penalty for unauthorised TPO works would be a matter for the Courts to determine.

5) What public interest factors does the Council policy require is taken into account for one time offenders who are simply ignorant of the laws?

See attached and above – each case would be treated on its own merits taking account of the particular circumstances and impact on public amenity
