Response

The council holds the information requested and it is attached/ the answers to your questions are below

Please could you state which if any voting machines have been used in: example Smartmatic or Dominion. General election, Local elections. Major election and Brexit for the last 10 years.

The only elections that utilise any electronic machines are the Mayor of London and London Assembly (GLA) elections (the last having been held in May 2016). At the GLA elections, the Ballot Papers are scanned and counted electronically – with manual adjudications made on any ballot papers where the voters intention cannot be identified by the software system.

Information about the suppliers and relevant contracts for the E-counting systems and process are not held by the London Borough of Barnet – the count process for the GLA elections is managed by the Greater London Authority (and should be available in the public domain for previous GLA elections).

Advice and Assistance : Direct Marketing

If you are a company that intends to use the names and contact details of council officers (or other officers) provided in this response for direct marketing, you need to be registered with the Information Commissioner to process personal data for this purpose. You must also check that the individual (whom you wish to contact for direct marketing purposes) is not registered with one of the Preference Services to prevent Direct Marketing. If they are you must adhere to this preference.

You must also ensure you comply with the Privacy Electronic and Communications Regulations (PECR). For more information follow this Link www.ico.org.uk

For the avoidance of doubt the provision of council (and other) officer names and contact details under FOI does not give consent to receive direct marketing via any media and expressly does not constitute a 'soft opt-in' under PECR.
